Report Also Tells of a Number of Japanese Taken Prisoners

BATAVIA, N. E. I., Dec. 13—Approximately 4,000 Japanese troops were killed when four Nipponese troopships were torpedoed off the east coast of Thailand by Dutch submarines, the commander of the Netherlands East Indies Navy announced officially tonight.

A Japanese post on the east coast of Borneo has been "annihilated" by a unit of the East Indies Navy, it was officially announced.

A number of motor launches were seized and a number of other vessels destroyed, it was said. A number of Japanese were stated to have been taken prisoner.

"Canned Goods" Matinee Will Benefit the Needy

The Red Cross considered today the advisability of distributing Christmas cheer baskets in Bristol and vicinity. Although those in need have decreased in number due to the defense program, there are those to whom Christmas will be a desolate day unless help is given at least in the form of a Christmas food basket, the officials decided.

In view of this fact a special matinee performance has been arranged by the management of the Bristol Theatre for Monday, December 22nd, at four o'clock. Admission fee will be a can of food or any imperishable foodstuff. An interesting program has been arranged for a juvenile audience by the theatre manager.

Others who wish to help by financial donations are asked to communicate with Miss Frances Landreth, chairman of home service of the Bristol Red Cross.

LATEST WAR BULLETINS

To Register All Men From 18 To 64

Washington—Congress moved swiftly today on the Army's request that all American men from 18 to 64 inclusive be registered for service in a great pool of manpower.

Despite a smattering of opposition—the first yet expressed in Congress to any war measure—leaders predicted early passage of the bill which would permit registration of the 18 to 64 group and designate those between 19 and 48 inclusive as liable for active service.

Both Senate and House Military Affairs Committees were called into Saturday's sessions in an effort to speed work on the measure to get between 40,000,000 and 50,000,000 men to sign up for Uncle Sam. Those who conferred with War Department officials said there was no immediate plan to call for the service of anyone below 21.

Latest Air Raid Sets Many Homes Afire in Manila

New York—Bert Silen, NBC correspondent at Manila, reported today that the latest Japanese air raid on the Philippine capital set fire to nearly a mile of civilian homes.

Damage to Nichols Field was slight, Silen said. Silen said Nichols Field and several other fields were attacked but that "it is believed our losses were slight."

Italian Cruiser Sunk

London—One Italian cruiser was sunk in the Central Mediterranean before dawn today and another severely damaged, the Admiralty announced.

In addition, the Admiralty revealed, one torpedo boat was severely damaged and an "E" boat sunk.

There was no damage to British vessels which made the attack and no British casualties, it was said.

Russians Break Through German Lines

New York—A British radio broadcast picked up by CBS said today that "Russian troops in the Donetz Basin have broken through the German lines and encircled German troops."

British Surround Axis Forces at Gazala

Cairo—British troops have surrounded Axis forces in the Libyan city of Gazala and are advancing west and northwest in the area south of that stronghold, the British middle eastern high command said today.

Southwest of Gazala, the communiqué said, enemy forces are being attacked by New Zealand troops. "Our mobile columns are causing great confusion and destruction among scattered columns of German and Italian troops and transports endeavoring to force their way northwest. Our tanks also attacked enemy tanks in their neighborhood yesterday afternoon."

NEARLY 1,000 PERSONS SEE MOVIES OF BOMBINGS

Emergency Police Crowd Into School Auditorium To See The Films

TWO SHOWS ARE GIVEN

Nearly a thousand people saw the two moving pictures, last night, of war bombings in Great Britain. The first showing, last evening, was at seven o'clock, when approximately 700 Emergency Police saw the films and then about 300 persons witnessed the second showing of the evening.

Yesterday morning the pictures were shown to pupils of the public and parochial schools of the higher grades.

Previous to the evening showing, Anthony Russo, area chief of the Emergency Police of the lower area of Bucks county, briefly described to the police some of the duties they may be called upon to perform. Mr. Russo also explained how some of the various kinds of bombs can be handled.

The pictures were shown in the high school auditorium.

"The Warning" pictures, with dramatic sound accompaniment and clear narration, showed the stark realities of an air-raid on a typical British city. The destructive force of enemy aircraft is graphically portrayed. But the co-ordinated work of civilian and military defense groups is shown overcoming many of the threats of danger. The duties of air-raid wardens, first aid workers, demolition squads, police and fire.

BREWSTER EMPLOYEES NOW IN NEW QUARTERS

Number of Workers Moved, "Stepping Up" Production At Aircraft Plant

URGE 'KEEP 'EM FLYING'

JOHNSVILLE, Dec. 13—A large number of employees of the Brewster Aeronautical Corporation plant here were moved this week into new quarters from the temporary plant, thus stepping up production.

It is stated that when the plant goes into production in about one month, another new unit will be built to the plant.

All employees called into conference this week were handed a notice signed by James Work, chairman of the board; Ralph M. Singer, vice chairman; and George F. Chapline, president and general manager, in which every person in the plant was asked to "lay aside differences and personal considerations to unite firmly behind the Commander-in-Chief of the United States Army and Navy, the President of the United States, for the defense of our own democracy as well as that of others."

"We, at Brewster, have a grave responsibility," the letter to employees pointed out. "As builders of aircraft not only for the Air Forces of the United States, but for our Allies, we have been called upon to further step up production at an ever increasing pace. We cannot emphasize too strongly that in this crisis the rivet guns in the hands of you Brewster-builders are as important as machine guns in the hands of troops in uniform."

"The courage and ingenuity that have long distinguished American men-at-arms must be supplemented by

Cars Skid; Sudden Change From Snow To Sleet Hampers River Bridge Traffic

OPERATORS 'CAUTIOUS'

The snow and sleet storm which followed during the night made travel hazardous for motorists in this area. Many motorists enroute to employment this morning were delayed, due to skidding, slowness of travel, and freezing of sleet on windshields. Buses were delayed somewhat during the early hours, but schedules were reported as made up within the first hour or two of travel.

Scores of employees at Bristol industrial plants, who daily travel across the Burlington-Bristol bridge, were held up, the approaches becoming slippery

WOMAN KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE ON BRISTOL PIKE, NEAR MILL CREEK ROAD; ESCORT ESCAPES

Mrs. Armie Quick Meets Instant Death While Walking Along Highway — Merrill Titgen Jumps To One Side and Escapes Injury

A woman was killed and a man narrowly escaped meeting a similar fate last evening on the Bristol Pike. An automobile struck the woman and she was killed instantly, it is believed, as she was dead when admitted to the Harriman Hospital.

The victim: Mrs. Rae Quick, 45, of Falls Township.

The man who escaped is Merrill Titgen, 36, of near Pennington, N. J.

The driver of the car which struck Mrs. Quick was William Holzhammer, 21, of 468 Brunswick avenue, Trenton, N. J.

The accident occurred at about 8:30 on Route 13, near Mill Creek Road, not far from the Fabian Farm, above Tullytown.

Holzhammer told Private Newton, of the Penna. Motor Police, that he did not see the couple who were walking on the north side of the road in the same direction that he was driving, until he was about 20 feet away. He was alone and driving to Bristol to call upon a young lady.

Titgen, a farm hand employed near Pennington, N. J., is a friend of the Quicks and had been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Quick during the evening.

Titgen said that he and Mrs. Quick went to a shop near Wheatleat to get tobacco for Quick and were en route back to the Quick home when the accident happened. The Quicks reside on the Dr. Haines farm on the Fallsington Road, between Mill Creek and Emille roads.

Titgen said that he and Mrs. Quick were walking along the road. He was off the concrete and walking on the gravel, while Mrs. Quick was walking near the edge of the concrete. They did not hear the car coming in back of them, nor did they see the lights.

The car struck Mrs. Quick, breaking her limbs and fracturing her pelvis. Titgen stated that she was thrown only a short distance. He jumped to the side, and in this manner avoided being hit.

Holzhammer told the investigating officer that he was driving about 45 miles per hour, and that he applied his brakes and swerved his car in efforts to avoid the accident.

The Bucks County Rescue Squad was called and brought the woman to the Harriman Hospital.

Armie Quick, husband of the woman, who was recently in an accident himself, was prostrated with grief when he learned at the hospital that his wife was dead. He collapsed, and had to be placed in bed.

The couple do not have any children. Deputy Coroner Dr. Charles P. Sampel was called to view the body.

Holzhammer was taken before a justice of the peace and held under bail to await the action of the coroner.

MALNUTRITION MUST END

With the nation engaged in a full-size war, the educational program instituted to inform the American people on proper diet should be put into high gear. The old theory that people are properly nourished if they obtain a sufficient supply of food long ago was tossed into the discard.

Dr. C. G. King, professor of chemistry and director of bio-chemical research at the University of Pittsburgh, stressed this fact in a recent address in which he said that "malnutrition persists in America despite food consumption in ample quantity and variety."

Statistics from America's rapidly-growing Army show that between 30 and 40 per cent of the nation is undernourished, he declared. He put the blame on methods used in refining foods and upon improper cooking. Refined food, he is quoted as saying, is devoid of the vitamins and minerals required in a healthful diet, and improper cooking weakens it by 20 to 50 per cent.

Doctor King, who is a member of the committee on food and nutrition of the National Research Council, now engaged in a nationwide educational program, says that rejections of selectees for bad teeth are three times as great as in 1917-18, and he attributes faulty teeth to improper diet. The implication that diet has deteriorated in the last quarter of a century is rather startling, and will be rejected by many persons.

But a scientific age, despite all its amazing benefits, also has some drawbacks, because not all advances are made concurrently. Thus man learned how to refine foods to make them more palatable long before science discovered the havoc that it alleged was being wrought. Not enough was known about vitamins and other food factors to estimate the damage. Today ample information regarding food is available, but the biggest problem remaining is re-education of the consumer.

It has been asserted countless times that a well-nourished people is essential if an all-out defense effort is to be successful. Now it must be said that a properly-nourished nation is vital to the successful prosecution of a first-class war.

"BE MY AGE"

Gene Tunney is willing to fight Joe Louis under certain conditions outlined in the current Readers Digest.

Gene, who is becoming something of an evangelist, thus following in the footsteps of several former heavyweight titleholders, says he'll engage to lick Louis in fifteen rounds. Yes, Gene is engaged in a crusade against tobacco.

Gene, who now is forty-three, admits that his challenge is not really a challenge, because he adds that the champion, now twenty-seven, would not be foolish enough to accept his terms. No boxer, no athlete in training, smokes, says Gene.

It seems to some persons as if Gene forgets that the weight of years counts heavily, too, and that abstinence from cigarettes does not halt the onward march of time. Like everyone else, Gene nightly pitches his moving tent a day's march nearer home.

Arthur Brisbane, the lauded often concluded his remarks on championship bouts with the assertion that a gorilla could lick both. Think what a non-smoking gorilla could do to Gene Tunney or Joe Louis!

the household. One choice that will appeal to all the men is any article in elastiglas, the new wonder plastic. Why not select such a wallet, belt, key chain, or braces of this material, or possibly a set?

Many families practice the habit of purchasing a "family gift" each Christmas—something the entire household can enjoy. My suggestion this year is a 1942 Philco radio, which the proprietors of Factors-to-You Furniture Company, 220 Mill street, are justly singing the praises of. A special shipment of Philco radios and radio-phonographs has just arrived at this establishment, with immediate delivery promised as long as they last. One with standard and short-wave reception, plus other new inventions is a wide choice. And the woods—we'll see for yourself, and admire.

Here's a time-saving suggestion on those busy shopping days! No one likes to go home and commence preparation of a meal after a day in the shops. Why not inform the family that they are all dining out on such evenings. It will save the nerves and temper of the shoppers, and be a real treat to others in the family. Stop in at Corderas Restaurant, Mill street, for a tempting meal. It will complete a satisfactory day of gift-purchasing.

A doll that says "Ma-Ma" and that also cries will bring an exclamation of joy to the little girl. Big, beautiful dolls that perform in just that manner are to be had at McCrory's 5 and 10 cent store, Mill and Wood streets. Not only do McCrory's sell new dolls in great variety, but there can also be purchased all types of clothing for the dolls received on previous occasions, likewise doll furniture.

This committee is to investigate the cost and have plans drawn. Members will make their report at a special meeting to be held in the near future.

Officers for the ensuing year were nominated as follows: President, Christopher A. Johnson; vice-president, Arthur Leigh; secretary, Charles Luciano; assistant secretary, John Luciano; treasurer, George W. Wright; trustees, William Woodington, John Cutchinal, Jr., William Leigh, Paul Shull, and Benjamin Porter; foreman, Wilmer Anderson; first assistant foreman, John Cutchinal; second assistant foreman, Jerry Zucker.

The foreman reported that the company had answered three alarms during the month all of which were for grass fires.

"THURSDAY'S CHILD" by VERA BROWN

FROM THE OLD RHYME: "THURSDAY'S CHILD HAS FAR TO GO"

SYNOPSIS

Leslie (Sonny) Richardson, a vivacious, 18-year-old redhead, is maid-of-all-work in her foster father's roadside lunchroom on the outskirts of Monroe, Michigan. Life to her was just work and arguments with Richardson. She never had any fun. Then, one day, Tom Hollister and Jamie Hicks, two young college students, drive up in an expensive trailer. Tom is attracted to Sonny and asks her to go dancing. When she tells him she doesn't know how to dance, he drops a coin in the phonograph and proceeds to teach her. Just then Richardson appears on the scene and orders the boys out. That was the last straw for Sonny. She decides to run away. So, that night, when Tom calls to apologize for getting her in trouble and asks her to meet him, she agrees, planning to use the boys in her scheme to escape. She slips out of the house and runs down the road to their waiting car.

CHAPTER FOUR

"Let's get going," Jamie urged, for some of Sonny's panic had communicated itself to him.

"OK, we're on our way," Tom said, as the big car shot down the highway. "We're going to a place outside of Toledo. It's a good dance spot—on the lake."

"But I'm a mess, my dress and stockings are torn!"

"Take off your stockings. Half the girls won't be wearing them anyway," said the efficient Tom. "What do you care? You'll be prettier than most anyway."

They rode in silence and the cool air calmed the girl.

"Now tell me about yourself," Tom said finally.

"There's nothing to tell."

"Why does your old man act like that?" he asked, in another effort to draw her out.

"He's not really my father. He brought me up."

"She did not add that he had been in love with her mother, and that her mother had run away to marry another man."

"We'll forget all about it," Tom said gallantly.

In 15 minutes they drew up alongside the lake shore dancing place. The strains of good band music floated out into the June night. Sonny's heart jumped. All her life she'd wanted to have fun. All her life she'd wanted this—what other girls had. Now she was going to have it!

Then they were in the big dimly-lighted pavilion, and Sonny was suddenly afraid of the crowds, the pretty girls. Her dress was in a state, and her hair was beyond repair.

Tom grinned at her encouragingly as he left her at the dressing-room door. He put a quarter in her hand. "Give that to the matron. She'll help you sew up your dress."

When the matron ran her practiced eye over Sonny's untidy dress, the girl's pose was completely shaken. She sat down, took off her hose.

"Well, girlie, you must have had a time for yourself," remarked a pretty blonde who was combing her hair.

Sonny did not answer. She stood up to look at her dress. It was pink organdy. The big three-cornered tear seemed hopeless, but the matron was helpful.

"I can pin it over, then it won't show. The lights aren't very bright out on the floor." The matron wondered about this red-haired girl who had come in such disarray. Young people today! She was glad she didn't have a daughter.

Sonny fixed her hair, powdered her nose. She had no lipstick, but the matron offered her some and Sonny liked the look of the splash of scarlet on her lips.

In 10 minutes she joined Tom and Jamie. "You look fine," said Tom. "Come on, Lesson No. 2. We're on our way."

On the floor it didn't go so well at first, but Sonny tried hard. Tom kept encouraging her, and before time, while Tom nodded encouragement to her from the edge of the floor. More and more Sonny realized that Tom was a decidedly personable chap; bronzed and tall with nice blue eyes. She did not know that Tom's flannels came from the best New York custom shop, that his tweed jacket was from Bond Street. Even if she did, it would have meant nothing to her.

All in all they had a gay evening. Jamie was amusing and they all laughed a great deal. Some of Sonny's breathless excitement communicated itself to the boys. It was impossible not to have a good time watching her complete wonderment at everything. But at last it was over.

"Well, girlie, you must have had a time for yourself," remarked a pretty blonde.

the dance was finished, Sonny was a little more at ease.

They joined Jamie then, and the trio went to have some lemonade out on the veranda. Tom grinned at Sonny across the table. "Now, Lesson No. 3. You won't mind what I say?"

Sonny promised.

"Then it is this. Redheads should never wear pink."

Sonny's cheeks blazed.

Tom put his hand over hers: "You said you wanted to learn. Just remember that. You're the kind of girl who must dress for her hair. White or green. Never pink." He winked at her. "That's what we learn at Princeton."

He went on: "Don't let it make you uncomfortable. But just like that way!"

Richardson had brought the dress home to Sonny, on one of his rare trips to Detroit, in a burst of generosity. The girl did not know that he had chosen pink because the first time he had seen her mother, a golden blonde, she had been wearing such a frock.

Jamie danced with Sonny the next

"Did you really have such a good time?" Tom asked incredulously. She was so naive, he wondered if it could be an act. He didn't suppose there were any girls like that left in this world.

"It was wonderful! I have never been so happy in my life."

The three rode back to Toledo, and Tom said they must have breakfast. It was only one o'clock. So they stopped for bacon and eggs in an all-night restaurant and got further acquainted.

As the meal drew to a close, Sonny dreaded the moment when she was to announce she wouldn't go back home—ever.

"Fred?" Tom asked, watching her shadowy grey-green eyes. Sonny shook her head.

"I suppose we ought to be getting you back. Sure you can get in without the old man catching you?"

"No."

Tom looked startled. "What do you mean?"

"I'm not back, ever!"

Bristol Unit Represented At Bi-County Council Session

Bristol's unit of American Legion Auxiliary was represented by four members at the monthly meeting of Montgomery-Bucks County of Auxiliaries, Thursday, when a luncheon meeting was held in the Episcopal Church at Hatboro.

Those from this section attending included: Mrs. Fred Bryner, Mrs. William DeVoe, Mrs. Harold H. Dettmer, and Mrs. Arthur Zug.

Following the invocation by the rector, the Rev. L. J. Sachs, the Legion's ninth district liaison officer, Ray Hemmerly, spoke to the gathering. He urged that in this time of national emergency that "all work together. Back up our President and all branches of the service, so that Democracy will live." Mr. Hemmerly asked that all act calmly and "avoid mobs."

Commander Knight of Hatboro Post extended a welcome to the women; after which the business meeting opened with Mrs. Phares Haldeman in charge.

Mrs. Henry Matthews, Americanism chairman of the council, instructed in proper salute to the flag, also the method of saluting when the national anthem is sung. She added that knitting and sewing is now more essential than ever.

In memory of former rehabilitation chairman of the council, Mrs. Nathan Hughes, late of Norristown, the council has donated five sets of radio ear phones for use of patients at the Naval Hospital, Philadelphia. Donations for Christmas gifts also included $12 to the Naval Hospital, $12 to Perry Point Hospital, and $5 to South Mountain Hospital. The sum of $5 was also voted toward the national defense effort.

Bristol unit reported sending $25 to the State Department of Auxiliaries to pay for 25 Christmas boxes for invalid veterans. Stamped Christmas cards, tally cards and nut cups were also sent by this unit for use of the men.

Mrs. Winfield Ott, Eastern Director, urged that all veterans record their discharges at their county court houses. All Auxiliary members were asked by Mrs. James Desmond, legislative chairman, to write their Congressman, urging support of H. R. 4, the Widows and Orphans Bill, which is now in the hands of the finance committee.

The January meeting will be held in Souderton.

Today's Quiet Moment

Pastor, Bristol Presbyterian Church
Almighty and ever-present God, we pray Thy blessing upon the young men and women who have been called to the service of our Nation. Now that we are engaged in international conflict, which will have its accompanying loss of life and property, grant a sense of Thy nearness to those whose lives are endangered. May they find their security in Thee. As the fondest hopes of man are shattered, may we find the only stability known to humanity in the eternal presence of Him Who is our Saviour. Yes, It's Mince-meat

When it's holiday time, mince-meat lovers—of which there are many—are "all out" for mince pie. And that brings to mind the fact that if mince-meat has such a popular flavor as well. It makes delicious cakes and cookies. And puddings! Mm! Here is a recipe for Mince-meat Pineapple Pudding, using the prepared mince-meat which comes in one and two-pound cans, just to give you an idea of what this excellent food does for puddings:

Mince-meat Pineapple Pudding

Mix together—
3 cups soft bread crumbs (packed in)
¾ cup mince-meat
1 cup shredded pineapple
1 cup pineapple juice.
Pour mixture into buttered casserole.
Dot with—
2 tablespoons butter.
Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 45 minutes or until browned. Serve with a hard sauce or a fluffy sauce.

Hard Sauce

Cream until very soft—
½ cup butter.
Add gradually creaming until smooth—
1 cup confectioners' sugar.
Add—
1½ teaspoons vanilla.
Keep in cool place until served.

Fluffy Sauce

Beat until quite stiff—
1 egg white.
Add—
6 tablespoons confectioners' sugar (a tablespoon at a time). Beat with rotary egg beater after each addition.

Mix together—
1 egg yolk, beaten
Pinch of salt
¼ teaspoon vanilla.
Fold beaten egg yolk into the white, then fold in—¼ cup whipping cream, whipped after measuring.
If not used at once, keep cool and mix well just before serving.

Quick Combination

You cut down on both time and cost when you combine the meat in your meal with prepared cooked spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese. Furthermore, you find the tangy sauce is a "natural" with the meats, serving as an accent for their savoriness. Hence the value of the following recipe for prepared spaghetti with frankfurters as your choice for an informal holiday supper. Give it credit for being inexpensive enough for everyday—but grand for parties, too.

Spaghetti with Pigs in Blankets
Prepare by making a long lengthwise slit in each—

6 frankfurters.

Spread on the inside of each—

India relish

Prepared yellow mustard.

Wrap around frankfurters—

6 slices bacon. Fasten the ends of the bacon with toothpicks, then place them on a rack under the broiler flame. Broil for 10 minutes or until bacon is cooked.

In the meantime, heat—

1 large (24-oz.) can cooked spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese.

Turn spaghetti onto platter and top with the broiled frankfurters. Serves 6.

FALLS SCHOOL TEAM LOSES TO N. J. SCHOOL BY SCORE OF 41 TO 31

Raduany's 15 Points Lead His Team To Ultimate Victory

JAY VEES ALSO BEATEN

Height of Victors Helped Them Defeat Bucks County Boys

TRENTON, Dec. 14—"Mike" Raduany's 15 points led the New Jersey School for Deaf to a 41-31 victory over the Falls Township School last night on the Parker School floor. The Falls Jay Vees were also beaten by the Deaf School Jay Vees, 28-15 score while the Falls Freshmen came through with a 33-11 triumph.

In the varsity game, the height of the Deaf School boys gave them the big advantage over the Orange and Black as on every play near the backboard, the Jerseyites had no little in nabbing the sphere.

"Johnny" Mansmann played a good game for the losers doing a fine job of guarding and hitting the cords for a total of 10 points.

before sand could be applied, so quickly did the snow change to sleet. With one or two machines halted in attempts to make their way up the slippery approaches, scores behind them could not continue.

One bus skidded side-ways across the span for a distance.

The bridge authorities soon had crews at work, with two additional men being summoned, to hurry the task of spreading sand. Traffic was moving smoothly within about a half hour.

Along the thoroughfares in the entire area drivers proceeded with caution, the result being that the Pennsylvania Motor Police had no reports of any accidents due to the storm. Here and there motorists halted to prepare their windshields for better vision.

Neibauer Bus Company stated that with drivers of buses delayed in reaching the company's garages, schedules were hindered somewhat during the early morning, but that within an hour or so buses were moving on time.

Motorists on both main highways in lower Bucks County, Bristol Pike and the Lincoln Highway, advanced with caution.

onel Gentner, who took him to F. B. I. headquarters in Philadelphia.

The arrest was made by officers of the Pennsylvania Defense Corps, who have been guarding the bridge since early Monday morning, and it took place while Lt. Col. Gentner, of the First Battalion of the Pennsylvania Defense Corps, was inspecting the personnel, composed of 23 officers and men.

Members of the corps previously had been instructed to stop and to question all Orientals crossing the bridge. It was while Sergeant John Busse was in charge of the detail that an automobile with one man in it crossed the bridge. The officers immediately recognized the occupant to be an Oriental, and he was questioned.

organizations, and other groups is shown in convincing detail. At last the raiders leave, the tension slackens, and the film ends with an urgent plea to prepare while "there is yet time!"

"The Warning" forms a dramatic and informative basis for every defense film program. Users have judged it the most effective film yet produced to awaken both lay and professional groups to the part they must play in National Defense.

"The Answer" is an inspiring and informative portrayal of the answer given by the men and women of Britain to the threat shown in "The Warning." While not primarily intended for training purposes, this picture adds a thrilling chapter to any showing of defense films.

A Capella Choir Will Give Special Program

"Silent Night," "A Legende" (Tschalkowsky), "The Lord's Prayer" (Malotte), "Psalm 150" (Cesar Franck). Offertory solo, "Ave Maria" (Schubert), Joseph Galzerano; "Break Thou Heavenly Light" (Bach).

"Deck the Hall," "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Oh Holy Night," "Hallelujah Chorus" from "The Messiah" (Handel); "Joy to the World," congregation; benediction, the Rev. James R. Galley.

The newly organized choir starts its busy holiday season with this program tomorrow. It will be augmented by a brass ensemble.

The following Sunday afternoon, Dec. 21st, at three o'clock, the choir with the orchestra and brass groups, will present in the high school auditorium their third annual "Vesper Hour" of Christmas music.

At these performances, in addition to many of the familiar carols, the group will render Malotte's "Lord's Prayer"; "A Legende" by Tschalkowsky; "Psalm 150" by Cesar Franck, and "The Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah."

On Monday, Dec. 22nd, the choir will make its annual caroling tour to the Bristol schools and hospitals. About five or six carols are to be sung at each institution visited. Tuesday, Dec. 23rd, will find the choir in procession through the high school, ending in the auditorium where the annual Christmas assembly program will conclude the series of events.

The group may carol on Christmas evening also, but this has not been definitely decided. The choir is limited to 60 high school singers.

Air Raid Detectors Are On Duty 24 Hours at Co. Seat similar aircraft warning posts located every 32 square miles and the post has direct telephone connections with Mitchell Field in New York.

The day shift, manned almost entirely by women, runs from 8 in the morning until 8 at night, and the men's shift continues from 8 in the evening until 8 in the morning.

So far there have been two women stationed in the tower at a time, but the men prefer to take the aircraft warning post alone.

The working periods thus far have been four hours a week, but naturally will be reduced if sufficient men and women report for duty.

At an enthusiastic meeting held in the Army on Thursday evening, when Chief Ulman outlined the duties to the newcomers, 30 men were signed up, but at least a dozen more reserves are needed.

Mrs. Jones reported that 27 new women had signed up and that she had a force of 12 carrying on since Sunday. Fourteen active men carried the burden at night during the past week, many taking shifts lasting from one to six hours at a stretch.

Chief Ulman said new candidates may report for service by calling either J. Roland Schmidt, dialing 4032; Robert Irwin, 5015, or Mrs. Jones, 4570.

The instructions are very simple, stressing time more than anything else.

OUR FLAG

It's a great OLD FLAG,
It's a grand OLD FLAG,
It's a dear OLD FLAG to me,
As its folds unfurl
To the morning air,
It speaks of LIBERTY.
Let nothing mar
One STRIPE or STAR.
Keep its COLORS always true.
Then raise it high
To the morning sky,
OUR FLAG, the RED, WHITE and BLUE.

Brave men have died
Midst the battle cry,
With a song of love to THEE.
They gave their all
At their COUNTRY'S call,
That call was LIBERTY.
Let's rid our LAND
Of the tyrant's hand.
Then the WORLD will look and see,
That the FLAG we fly
Is the EMBLEM of the FREE.

modern weapons of warfare if we are to, as we shall, win through to victory. It is the patriotic obligation of each and every one of us to apply to our part, in the battle of production, the same initiative and effort over and above the line of duty that has won us so many a battle in the field.

"With the determination that the American way of life shall prevail, that hard-fought-for American freedom shall be preserved, we make this appeal to every man and woman in our organization, regardless of his or her position, to stand united with us in putting forth that extra effort, in making those sacrifices which will enable the plots of our own and our allies' air forces to 'Keep 'em Flying' on to ultimate victory."
